Do you want to hear stories about a little scared bunny who overcame fear with self-assertion and power of the imagination?

A scared bunny doesn't want it to be winter yet, but it is winter. He is lost in the wood and scared but he whispers to himself, 'I am not lost', 'I am not lost at all!'

The bunny is tired and cold, and he is afraid of the wild animals living in the woods, but he assures himself 'I am not afraid of anyone!' 'No foxes or wolves live in the woods.'

At last, he finds a home.

– maybe a little too small for him to lay his tired body down. But it's okay as long as he can say

'This house isn't too small for me!'

And it's spring and warm. The bunny is not tired at all.

'No foxes or owls live in the woods'

'No ghosts, monsters, ponsters, tonsters, figgers, diggers'

Oh no, the bunny met a wolf!

What did the bunny do when he met the wolf?

Are you well acquainted in Art? Here are 8 children who will share what they know about art.

Here are Astrid, John, Mary, Martin

Rosie, August, Lily, and little Linda. Their moms and dads are artists.

Astrid, John, Mary, Martin, Rosie, August, Lily, and little Linda share a common fact, that their parents are all artists. They are artists who express art all in different and unique ways.

Astrid's dad is a painter. There's nothing recognizable in his paintings.

"Abstract art depicts both everything and nothing," her dad says.

For example, Astrid' s dad is a painter who loves abstract art. He says 'It depicts both everything and nothing' Astrid' s mom also draws. She draws everything such as wind, people' s fear, and life. She says she loves when people don' t understand what she' s drawing right away. 'It' s also nice when everyone sees different things in the pictures."

August' s mom and dad are photographers. They try to see what other people don' t see.

Martin' s dad does instillations. He makes a whole room into an art.

In fact 8 children are also artists in each unique and different ways.
